Keynote Address

Hanne Juncker

Director of Security, Integrity and Rule of Law, Council of Europe

“Collective Action is not just one tool among many. It is one of the most effective responses we have to corruption in today's interconnected world.”

Participants satisfaction rating 96%

“The conference reflected the diversity of Collective Action initiatives and the tangible impact they can achieve when competitors, governments, civil society organizations, and development partners collaborate around shared integrity objectives.”

“The conference provided an excellent platform to disseminate these ideas, engage in thoughtful discussions, and exchange perspectives with practitioners and researchers from different countries and sectors.”
